BIG NEWS @ YOUR LIBRARY!

Library's 'Axis360' Introduces Readers to a World of New e-Books

Library customers whose worlds revolve around e-books are sure to enjoy Axis360, the Memphis Public Library & Information Center's newest downloadable e-books service. Compatible with Windows personal computers, Macs, Apple and Android smartphones and tablets, and other e-reading devices, Axis360 offers Library customers more e-books on more topics than ever before!

"The Axis360 collection currently includes more than 500 titles, and it's growing all the time," noted Alan Stewart, library collections development manager. "As with all of our downloadable content services, Library customers can access a world of information and entertainment when it's convenient for them!"

The new service is both convenient and easily accessible also. Using their Library card and PIN numbers to log into the Axis360 website, customers of all ages can browse the titles of their choice such as The Hunger Games, The Adventures of Captain Underpants, Goosebumps, The 39 Clues, and even The Naked Lunch for adults.

"For young children, parents can choose from a wide variety of great picture books and early reader books," Stewart said. "A text-to-speech feature in many titles even lets children read along while the book is read aloud to them, which helps to build their reading skills!"

New Lab at Central Library Helps Customers Learn Their Electronic Gadgets and Gizmos

Navigating the ever-changing world of electronic gadgets and gizmos is easier for Memphis Public Library customers thanks to a new e-Book and e-Audio Gadget Lab at the Benjamin L. Hooks Central Library (3030 Poplar Avenue).

"This lab is for customers who want to learn how to check out and download digital content from the Library's various collections," explained Staff Development Manager Damone Virgilio. "Customers now have an opportunity to meet one-on-one with a knowledgeable staff member who will assist them with learning or troubleshooting," he said.

Customers can bring their electronic devices to Central Library (computer lab L-50) on the second and fourth Mondays of each month. Helpful Library staff will offer hands-on assistance and answer questions regarding how to download music, e-books, and e-audiobooks to customers' devices.

Some devices customers may bring to the Lab include iPhones, iPads, tablets, Nooks, the Amazon Kindle Fire HDX, and more. Regardless of which device, Library staff is willing to help customers of all ages!

Toddler Storytimes at Poplar-White Station Library Jumpstart Early Literacy

By: Na'Tasha Farr, Special to MPLIC

Parents can jumpstart their toddlers' love for literacy during Toddler Storytimes at Poplar-White Station Library (5094 Poplar Avenue). Kids ages one to three will gain the confidence they need to learn early reading skills such as rhyming, singing songs, creating finger puppet plays, and working with board books.

During each storytime, toddlers repeat four rhymes to help them learn association. Along with rhyming, toddlers and parents read stories, review alphabet sounds while practicing words, and learn to associate words and actions using songs like "Itsy Bitsy Spider".

TEENS

Teens Can Apply Now for Teen Tech Camp 2014

Today's teens hoping to become tomorrow's IT experts are encouraged to apply now for the Library's Teen Tech Camp 2014, an interactive workshop July 21 - 26, 2014 at the Benjamin L. Hooks Central Library (3030 Poplar Avenue) for young techies to learn cutting-edge software from industry professionals.

Celebrating the tenth anniversary of Teen Tech Camp, organizers say participants should beat the last-minute rush and apply early. The application deadline is Friday, May 16, 2014.

Teens ages 13 to 15 will learn coding, how to create their own video games, and how to use Scratch - specialized software designed by MIT (Massachusetts Institute of Technology). IT experts from the Society for Information Management (Memphis chapter) will be on hand to teach new skills, answer questions, and to offer advice on pursuing technical careers.

In this camp, teens will get a good foundation to start their careers," explained Keshia Williams, Humanities librarian and event organizer. "If we succeed in lighting the spark in teens' eyes, there is no limit to where technology will lead them in the future!"

Earth Day - Cause for Celebrations at Memphis Public Libraries By: Na'Tasha Farr, Special to MPLIC

Read more

Keeping the earth clean can be a major task, but making it fun can inspire teens to recycle, throw away trash, or even to make art! Library customers can grab a friend and get involved in Earth Day celebrations throughout the Memphis Public Library System.

Raleigh Branch Library (3157 Powers Road) will kick start the celebration on Earth Day (April 22) at 3 pm with some friendly competition in the Trash to Art Contest. During the event, teens will work independently or as teams to design original artwork using their imaginations and art skills. Everyone will receive a prize, but the contest winner will have his/her artwork displayed in Raleigh Library's Teen Section. Customers should call (901) 415-2778 to register.

The celebration doesn't end on Earth Day! On April 23, 2:30 pm at the Benjamin L. Hooks Central Library (3030 Poplar Avenue), teens can create artwork and repurpose recycled items at "Crafts for Teens". Then on April 24, 2:30 pm, Central Library teens will view the movie "Hoot" and discuss how they can help to make the world a better place!

No Need to Fear, Tax Help is Here at Memphis Public Libraries!

The April 15 deadline to file 2013 taxes has some taxpayers screaming for "help", but Memphis Public Library customers are taking advantage of free tax assistanceoffered at several Library locations.

A partnership with AARP and VITA, this community service gives customers a reliable and worry-free way to file their federal income taxes. To get started, Memphis Public Libraries maintains a webpage of community tax resources throughout Memphis, Shelby County, and the surrounding area.

"It can be a financial burden to pay a professional tax preparer for people with low to moderate income," noted Audrey May, LINC/2-1-1 public services supervisor. "Our role as the Library is to provide information and access to these services without the financial burden."

Primarily serving customers age 60 and over, AARP volunteers work on a first come, first served basis at the Benjamin L. Hooks Central Library, Cordova Branch Library, and Bartlett Branch Library. VITA tax professionals will visit several Library locations to offer their services to customers of all ages with low to moderate income. Click

here to view a schedule of AARP and VITA sessions!

Customers of all ages are asked to bring their social security card, income and tax documents, and any other information noting medical fees and charitable contributions (if itemizing). The previous year's income tax return is also helpful but not mandatory.

To beat the final rush, Super Tax Days are also available for customers 10 am to 4:30 pm on April 12, 14, and 15 at Central Library (3030 Poplar Avenue, meeting rooms A - C).

BRANCH HIGHLIGHT

East Shelby Branch Library is Second Home for Customers

Customers can make themselves at home at East Shelby Branch Library, a family-friendly place located at 7200 East Shelby Drive. The dedicated and friendly staff has gladly served the surrounding community since 1999. The 27,000 square-feet Library is a second home for book enthusiasts and nature lovers alike.

"East Shelby Library was built early during the development of its neighborhood. For that reason, a creek runs through the property and is home to many types of wildlife like fish, geese, and deer," explained Branch Manager Deborah Stevens.

The attractive landscape and building are complemented by a variety of programs and services for customers to enjoy. Stevens said, "Our customers come from a wide range of ages and language groups. Our programs seek to reach as many individuals as we can." Specialized programs include Bilingual Family Storytimes, financial aid workshops for college-bound customers, adult computer classes, childcare provider workshops, and the GED Adult Learners' Program offered in partnership with Shelby County Schools.

With several high schools, middle schools, and elementary schools nearby, East Shelby Library offers students a vast collection of books, audiobooks, CDs, and more! Study rooms, laptops for check out, and more than 40 public desktop computers with Internet are also available for lifelong learners.

Stevens concluded, "Through the years, East Shelby Library customer have remained loyal and tremendously patient. Our staff is truly grateful for this loyalty and continually seeks ways to keep East Shelby Library an integral part of this wonderful and vibrant community!"

East Shelby Library is open 10 am to 5 pm on Mondays through Thursdays and Saturdays. For more information, call (901) 415-2767.
