

*You're invited to join the
"Great Conversation"*

Memphis: Art & Place

Great CONVERSATIONS

FREE AND OPEN CLASSES AT THE LIBRARY TAUGHT BY RHODES COLLEGE FACULTY

Memphis: Art and Place

Tuesday, February 23 | 5:30-7:30 pm

Benjamin L. Hooks Central Library L-56

3030 Poplar Ave.

"GREAT CONVERSATIONS" are free and open classes at the Library taught by Rhodes College faculty!

Director of the Clough-Hanson Gallery and Rhodes College faculty member Joel Parsons will lead the "conversation" about Memphis: Art & Place - a follow up to a symposium February 18 - 19 at Rhodes College.

This conference will bring together national and local figures to consider how the arts have defined and shaped Memphis, contributing to social change, community building, and urban development. It will open with a keynote lecture by acclaimed conceptual visual artist Mel Chin!

Also, Parsons will discuss why this symposium was organized and will synthesize insights of the gathering, before taking questions about how the arts shape cities like Memphis.

For more event information, click here or call (901) 415-2726.

Love Your Library Online!

@MemphisLibrary

